The Hawaii Real Estate Commission, administratively attached to the State of Hawaii Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs, is responsible for the licensing and regulation of real estate brokers and salespersons; the registration of condominium hotel operators, condominium managing agents, and condominium associates; some aspects of condominium governance; condominium projects; and condominium public reports.

The Commission is the trustee of the real estate education, real estate recovery, and condominium management education funds. The real estate education fund was established to promote the advancement of education and research in the field of real estate for the benefit of the public and licensees. The real estate recovery fund is intended to benefit persons aggrieved by licensees who are found to have engaged in misrepresentation, fraud or deceit. The condominium management education fund is intended for educational purposes including research, improvement and more efficient administration of condominium associations, and identification and promotion of expeditious and inexpensive procedures for resolving condominium association disputes.

The Commission maintains a Web page at <http://www.hawaii.gov/hirec>.
